Assessment of Permitting and Land Use Functions Will Improve Customer Service

The City has begun a comprehensive assessment of its permitting and land-use planning functions in an effort to improve customer service and efficiency.

"This is part of a systematic, ongoing effort to improve all City services," said Mayor Mike McKinnon. "The bottom line is: better service to our customers."

The effort was approved by the City Council and began in January.

The Demarche Consulting Group is conducting interviews and panel discussions with users of the services, and reviewing permit systems in the City. The assessment is expected to be completed in May, and will provide a "picture" of existing operations with recommendations for improvements.

A partial list of permits being reviewed includes:

- Building Permits: New Construction and Remodels
- Land Use Decisions
- Storm, Sewer and Right of Way
- Business Licenses
- Special Events

If you have any questions or would like information, please contact Steve Nolen of the Mayor's office at (425) 775-1971.

Business License System Improved

The City recently made significant improvements to its business license system designed to improve service to Lynnwood businesses. Here are some highlights:

- Reduced application from 6 to 1-1/2 pages, with attachments only if needed
- Reduced processing time goal from six weeks to 48 hours
- Implemented electronic tracking, which allows applicants to check license status by phone

- Set goal to make license application and tracking available via the Internet

We have used the new system to process license renewals since January and the feedback is positive. The forms are easier to use, instructions are clear and the turn around time has been surprisingly quick.

We have also received helpful suggestions and will continue to make improvements. If you have suggestions or comments, please call Vicki Heilman at (425) 670-6612.

Lynnwood Board and Commission Vacancies

The City of Lynnwood currently has vacancies on its Parks & Recreation Board, Historical Commission and Library Board.

Applications are available at City Hall. Call (425) 775-1971 for more information.

State Building Code Updates Effective July 1

The State of Washington Building Codes will be changed on July 1, 2004.

The Washington State Legislature has recently adopted the International Codes, which include the International Building Code, International Residence Code, International Mechanical Code and International Fire Code. The City of Lynnwood Building Official and Fire Marshal are working on ordinances to adopt these codes with State of Washington and Lynnwood amendments.

Beginning July 1, 2004, all building permit applications submitted to the City of Lynnwood must comply with the new state codes. These new codes will require better resistance to earthquakes, but overall will have very little impact on the requirements for life/safety regulations for most construction projects. City employees are currently studying the new codes to become proficient with them.

If you have any questions related to the new International Codes, contact the Permits and Inspections Division of the Community Development Department at (425) 670-8331 or (425) 670-6646.

Business Advisory Group Meets

Over 50 Lynnwood businesses, community organizations and stakeholders attended the Business Advisory Group (BAG) meeting held in Council Chambers on January 27, 2004.

Updates on major projects in Lynnwood were presented, including the Alderwood Mall expansion, Lynnwood Convention Center and Lynnwood Transit Center.

Special Event Permit reform is an issue that the BAG has identified as important to the business community. Changes are being prepared to address their concerns. Customer service in the City permit process was also discussed.

The Business Advisory Group was asked to provide feedback on the Economic Development Plan that is being prepared by Berk & Associates, which will develop a community profile, identify strategies and recommend actions for Lynnwood's economic future. The plan will be presented to the City Council in fall 2004.

Mark your calendar for the next BAG meeting:

Lynnwood Diversity Survey Results

The Lynnwood Diversity Task Force has completed its review of the recent Diversity Survey sent to Lynnwood residents.

Surveys were mailed to Lynnwood residents with utility bills and were published in the Lynnwood Enterprise. The Task Force received 347 survey responses. Responses aligned closely with the ethnic diversity of the City.

The Task Force noted the following themes in the survey responses:

- Although generally satisfied with life in Lynnwood, many commented on the lack of a unique community identity and engagement in their community.
- There seems to be a substantial lack of awareness about opportunities for community involvement and diversity programs.
- A large percentage felt they were not being heard by their community leaders.
- Several responses were critical of attention to diversity and were emphatic about "Americanizing" new immigrants.

Respondents suggested the following ways to foster community involvement:

- Events that bring people together
- Meetings and events held in neighborhoods
- Better means of disseminating information
- Help with transportation and child-care

The Task Force made several recommendations to the City Council:

- Support a Diversity Commission
- Support Initiatives to Build Neighborhood Connections and Sponsor Community Events
- Create a Unique Community Cultural Event
- Convene Local Study Circles
- Partner with Other Community Organizations, Groups and Individuals

The Task Force thanks everyone who completed a survey. A copy of its full report is available at www.ci.lynnwood.wa.us.

New Art Exhibit at Alderwood Mall

Beautiful art awaits you inside the southeast mall entry to Alderwood, between Sears and Bon-Macy. In late January, Alderwood offered the Lynnwood Arts Commission an exciting opportunity to use this entry space for art exhibitions. With its high ceiling, elegant architectural details and neutral colors, this space showcases art brilliantly.

We recruited four local artists: photographers Jerry McCollum and Susie Howell, printmaker/paper maker Taiko Suzuki and fabric artist Ben Muchnik. Their 25 art pieces have added tremendous visual interest to the space.

This is a win-win-win situation for all parties involved. Artists get a great space to show their work; Alderwood gets to

Spruce Primary Display Wins Ribbon

Anna Walter's 3rd Grade class at Spruce Primary received a blue ribbon from the Northwest Flower and Garden show for "Most Innovative Display."

The project, a display that depicts salmon trading places with humans, was titled, "The Salmon's Revenge!" The project included babies floating down through polluted waters, cows tromping through a stream and an oil spill in the estuary.

Spruce Primary was a recipient of a Surface Water Education Grant from the City of Lynnwood. Each year the City provides the opportunity for local schools to receive grant monies to complete projects about surface water education.

The project "The Salmon's Revenge!" was a ribbon-winner at the flower and garden show.

'Seeing Red' Juried Art Exhibit - Call for Artists

The Lynnwood Arts Commission invites visual artists to submit their work to a juried theme art exhibit, "Seeing Red." The theme is the color red, and the idea is to exhibit work that includes the color red as an important element. The exhibit will take place October 8 through November 18, 2004 at the Lynnwood Library Gallery. Applications will be accepted through August 20, 2004.

We will present several awards at an artist reception and consider the artwork for purchase for the City's permanent collection.

The Lynnwood Library Gallery is sponsored and maintained by the Arts Commission, with shows featuring local and regional artists. No commission is charged for sales made. The gallery is visited by approximately 1,500 people monthly.

Lynnwood's New Heritage Park to Open Soon

After a year of construction, the City will soon open Lynnwood's new Heritage Park. The date of the park's Grand Opening and Dedication will be announced in March.

The new park features four of Alderwood Manor's historic structures: the Wickers Building, Interurban Trolley #55, and buildings from the 1917 Demonstration Farm - the Superintendent's Cottage and Water Tower.

A new Snohomish County Visitor Information Center, located in the renovated Wickers Building, will provide visitors with community information, and interpretive displays will tell the story of Alderwood Manor. The Superintendent's Cottage, renovated by the Alderwood Manor Heritage Association, will feature a resource center for heritage activities. The Sno-Isle Genealogical Society will occupy the site's original residence for genealogical research. The large plaza in front of the trolley will soon be paved with inscribed bricks donated by residents and local businesses. Meeting rooms and outdoor spaces will also be available for public gatherings.

The first phase of development was funded with a combination of federal, state and local funds that included a Federal Gas Tax grant, Washington State Heritage Capital Projects grant, Hotel/Motel funds and City of Lynnwood Capital Development funds.

The historic Wickers Building will house the Snohomish County Visitor Information Center.

Future phases will include development of the east side of the park. The Water Tower will be renovated for use as an agricultural learning center to support demonstration gardens reminiscent of Alderwood Manor's Demonstration Farm.

Donations Still Needed

Commemorate your family heritage, or recognize your business or organization with the contribution of an inscribed brick for the plaza or a trolley accessory. Contributions toward the general development of the park are also greatly appreciated and will be recognized on a permanent donor plaque. For more information, please call Laurie Cowan, Lynnwood Parks Planner, at (425) 744-6478. Heritage Park is located on the corner of Poplar Way and Alderwood Parkway in Lynnwood. Look for a sign soon on I-5 that will identify this historical attraction and the new Visitor Information Center.

Is Your Plumbing Having a Heart Attack?

You can prevent grease from blocking the arteries of your plumbing or the City's sewer system.

Kitchen fat, oil and grease (FOG) cause problems similar to what cholesterol causes in the human body. Our sewer system has been on a high fat diet for far too long. The arteries of the system are becoming blocked by FOG from homes and businesses. The #1 cause of sanitary sewer overflows is pipe blockage, and 70% of the blockages are caused by grease accumulating in the system.

Animal fat, grease and vegetable oil poured down drains causes this problem. Flushing with hot water does not remove the problem; it moves it farther down the pipe where it solidifies. This eventually leads to a complete blockage in either the plumbing of the home or the sewer collection system. A sewer "heart attack" can then occur and result in the backup of untreated sanitary sewage.

The City's sewer crew maintains our sewer system regularly. Crews use water jets to remove grease build up and minimize the potential for sanitary sewer overflows, but they cannot stop it all. You can help prevent FOG blockages by taking steps to change the amount of fat, oil and grease fed to the system. Here's what you can do to help:

- Cool down cooking oil, grease, and fat and pour them into a can - not down the drain.
- Scrape solid grease from pans and dispose of it in the garbage.
- Wipe small amounts of oil and grease off of pans, dishes and utensils with a paper towel and dispose of towel in the garbage.
- When trimming meat, collect the scraps and throw them away in the garbage.

Prevention is the most cost effective way to deal with the FOG problem. The only way to remove FOG build-up is manually. In your home, that usually requires the services of a plumber. In the sewer system, it requires the use of a utility crew and equipment.

Spring Clean-Up Coming Up

If you live in a single-family home within Lynnwood's City limits, you may participate in the City's annual Spring Clean-Up during the week of April 19. Additional garbage, yard debris and separated scrap metal, placed out at the curb during that week only, will be collected at no extra charge. Watch your mail for a bright yellow flyer, which will contain information and instructions.

Recycling Opportunities for Cell Phones, Rechargeable Batteries

Cell phones are one of the most easily recycled electronic items. A number of recycling companies currently reuse and recycle cell phones. In Lynnwood, many cell phone, consumer electronics and office supply outlets also accept used phones. There are also many opportunities to donate cell phones to charities and nonprofit organizations.

Many retail locations also accept spent rechargeable batteries (the most common are nickel-cadmium or "ni-cad") that power cell phones, laptop computers, power tools and more. Most office supply outlets accept used inkjet cartridges from home office printers and copiers. Contact the stores to confirm their policies before dropping off items for recycling.

For details on Lynnwood's drop-off locations, and information on donation programs, call the Recycling Coordinator at (425) 670-8302 or go to www.ci.lynnwood.wa.us and click on "Services" and "Recycling."

Thermal Imaging Cameras Can Help Save Lives

The Lynnwood Fire Department recently purchased two Thermal Imaging Cameras (TIC). These remarkable devices can detect and display hidden heat sources through thick smoke, walls, doors, and furniture. They can even show human heat signatures, helping firefighters to locate fire victims when normal visibility is lost due to heavy smoke. The addition of this innovative technology will help Lynnwood firefighters locate fire sources early, speed rescue operations and assess fire containment.

Thermal imaging technology has advanced dramatically in the last decade. Today's TICs are handheld, light and very rugged. They resemble a home video camera, but are made for fire environments. TICs are proven to save lives, reduce firefighter fatigue and minimize property damage.

Used Car Seats to Be Crushed

The City wants to help make travel safer for our children by destroying used car seats. Used car seats can be dangerous due to changes in safety standards, worn harnesses or because of previous accidents. We want used car seats out of circulation! Bring your used seats to any City building for collection, and the City will crush the seats during its annual Spring Clean-Up. Watch your local newspaper or the City's website at www.ci.lynnwood.wa.us for the date and location.

Police Department Volunteers Help Catch Burglar

On December 19, 2003, Bob and Bette Anderson, a husband and wife team of Volunteers in Public Safety (VIPS), reported hearing noises coming from the attic of a vacant home they were checking.

"We were checking the house and outbuildings and saw a door on the side of the garage standing open," explained volunteer Bob Anderson. "I went closer and heard noises in the attic. It sounded like someone shuffling around up there. I backed off to the Crime Prevention car we were driving and called officers." The suspect was apprehended and booked for burglary.

Bob and Bette Anderson join about 30 other retired volunteers who do house checks for residents who are out of town, clerical work for the Crime Prevention Unit, and drive Crime Prevention cars around Lynnwood acting as extra eyes and ears for the police.

The volunteers are trained on how to look for and report suspicious activity, as well as to be a presence in neighborhoods and commercial areas as they "patrol" the city.

Bob and Bette Anderson are police volunteers who conduct checks of vacant houses.

Free Gun Locks

The Police Department, in cooperation with Project ChildSafe, is making cable-style gun locks available to Lynnwood residents. Our goal is to prevent a loaded gun from being left unattended in a place where a child may find it. Safe handling and secure storage of firearms is critical, particularly in homes with small children.

Along with the gun lock, residents will be given a brochure called Firearms Responsibility in the Home.

If a child resides in your home, please pick up a free gun lock and brochure at the Front Desk of the Lynnwood Police Department: 194th Street SW and 44th Avenue W. Call (425) 744-6938 for more information.

Questions, Answers About City's Updated Tree Ordinance

After much feedback from citizens, an updated Tree Ordinance was adopted and became effective March 1, 2004. The new Tree Ordinance includes a program to designate and protect Heritage Trees, creates a tree fund that will allow citizens to receive grants and tree vouchers to plant trees, and updates the permit process that regulates single family and large development differently. Frequently asked questions about the Tree Ordinance follow:

Why did the City change the Tree Ordinance?

City of Lynnwood residents expressed concerns about the loss of trees in Lynnwood. Trees are part of the urban and natural environment, and it is important to preserve existing trees, as well as plant new ones for the future. The environmental and aesthetic benefits to the City and its residents are significant.

If I want to remove a tree on my property, will I need a permit?

Most likely. Many types of tree removal would require a permit. Most permits would, however, be no-cost. There are a few exemptions from needing a permit, including dead and hazardous trees. The City asks that you call prior to removing any trees so we may assist you and determine whether a permit is needed.

How much will a permit cost?

There is no cost for a single family permit unless more than the two trees or 40% of the trees on the site (whichever is greater) are removed. If you are proposing to remove more trees than that, a site visit to inspect proposed tree removal is required and a fee of $50 would apply.

What if I am interested in designating a "Heritage Tree?"

A Heritage Tree is a tree that because of its age, size, unique type, or historical association is of special importance. Contact the City of Lynnwood Public Works Department to obtain an application. After the City receives a completed application, the Parks and Recreation Board will hold a Public Hearing to vote on the designation.

How do I receive a tree grant or tree voucher?

Contact the City of Lynnwood Public Works Department to obtain an application for a tree grant or voucher. Section 4 of the Tree Preservation and Protection Guidelines for the City of Lynnwood covers eligible projects and considerations for approval; this can be viewed on the City website.

For information on the Lynnwood Tree Ordinance call (425) 670-6683 or visit www.ci.lynnwood.wa.us.
